DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 27-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. There is no description of how the emulsion is broken, when the asphalt emulsion is completely covered by a layer of aggregate. One of ordinary skill in the art would have to undertake undue experimentation in order to find out how this can be done. See In re Wands, 8 USPQ2d 1400, 1404 Fed. Cir. 1988).

3. Claims 27-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for a method of preparing cold mixes using a styrene-butadiene copolymer of the claimed particle size, does not reasonably provide enablement for preparing cold mixes using any polymer having any particle size. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make or use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. One of ordinary skill in the art would have to undertake undue experimentation in order to find the right polymer and the right particle size. See In re Wands, 8 USPQ2d 1400, 1404 Fed. Cir. 1988).

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

6. The definition of "sufficient" as causing "substantial" improvement substitutes one indefinite definition with another in claims 1-30.

7. In claim 3, the word "monomer" should be a plural.

8. Claims 2, 4, 5, 12, 14, 16, 21 and 22 contain improper Markush language. When the last conjunction is "and", the proper Markush language is "selected from the group consisting of". Always. Without exception.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

9. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

10. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mukaida et al. 5,435,842.
11. Mukaida et al. disclose asphalt in claim 1, synthetic resin powder in claim 4 and 10-150 micron particle size in column 8, lines 42-45. Applicants' claims are not novel.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

12. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

13. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

14. Claims 1-3 and 24-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Asahi Chemical Co., Ltd. JP-01-287170, in view of Sack et al. 6,143,808.

15. Asahi Chemical teaches styrene-butadiene elastomer having a particle size of 0.01-1 mm and asphalt kneaded together at 170-220° C. Sack et al. reveal adding filler to the mix in Example 1. Filler is fine aggregate. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to add the fillers (aggregate) to the asphalt/polymer blend in order to cover the cost and to optimize the physical properties of the blend by selecting the optimum particle size. See In re Boesch, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

16. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Peter Szekely whose telephone number is (571) 272-1124. The examiner can normally be reached on 6:10 a.m.-4:40 p.m. Tuesday-Friday.
